If you were given a space in the centre for 6 weeks – what would you use it for?

The Centre would host social events for community members who want to share ideas and talk about personal projects.

At an event (e.g. cooking from different parts of the world) organised by the centre and community members, people can discuss what clubs, events or activities they would like to run.

(the Reggae Orchestra is a successful example of this).

Then a space in the centre can be given to an individual or group for FREE for 6 weeks.

What they might be able to do with it, e.g. learning or teaching new skills, meeting & bringing in new people to the centre; community engagement - and what this could all lead to; events, market stalls, record sales etc. can be outlined beforehand.

With this goal to work towards, when the 6 weeks are up, the group can demonstrate what they have done and what they could do next. You can then learn what value has been added to the centre and if the group can continue using the space.

The agreement would need to benefit both the Centre & the groups being given space to use.

This could lead to...

Choir Singing Lessons (all ages together)

Community Film Nights

Soul Music Clubs

Homework Clubs
